

Information sheet No. 6: Excursions

Museum of the history of communications: from postal horse-drawn carriage to satellite communication

The guys visited the modern College of communications, saw its laboratories and met with the Museum of communications, which for more than 70 years gathered the College.

Saw the gramophone, radios during the second world war, things of the Russian soldier-radio operator...

Phones of the recent past ... telephone stations and a telephone operator's workplace, a mid-20th century TV, and an exhibit of a communication satellite

Night Kazan Kremlin

The tour-audio performance was held in the night Kremlin, telling about what a dream for a man. A dream is our destiny. Everyone wrote on a postcard his dream, to which he goes through life, tied it to the balloon and released into the night sky to the stars!!

